Sensation in Court.

A sensation was sprung by the prosecution in the case of A. Chadwick Burton in the Hastings Court in Richmond yesterday. Burton is charged with collecting money in the name of a church in Richmond. Without a moment's warning, the State introduced as a witness the real wife of the accused, whom he did not know was within hundreds of miles of Richmond. The shock to the man was severe. He trembled and started in dismay at the face of Mrs. Hattie N. Burton, his wife, who gave him back a steady look. Burton turned pale. Not even Burton's counsel knew of the surprise, and took no notice of the woman until asked if she knew Burton. She calmly replied: "I do; I am his wife." At these words Capt. George D. Wise, of counsel for Burton, sprang from his seat, but Gilbert Pollock entered an objection to the evidence, stating that the charge against his client was getting $2 from A. K. Sands under false pretenses and that no matter if he had 10 wives it did not affect the case. The judge sustained the motion, and the story Mrs. Burton had to tell was hurried, so far as the court is concerned. Not so otherwise, however. Mrs. Burton afterwards talked freely. She showed her marriage certificate, dated in Philadelphia, July 27, 1892, signed by Rev. William Dalton, showing that Albert Chadwick Burton and Hattie U. Christow were duly married. She says the woman who masqueraded in Richmond as Burton's wife was Maud Lipker. As Burton represented himself as a lawyer and minister to Belgium and that after marriage he induced her to sell her house so that he could accept the invitation of President Harrison to move to Indianapolis and take charge of his law practice. They went to Indianapolis, but the practice and connection with President Harrison proved a fake.

Lower Court Reversed.

The Court of Appeals of Virginia in Richmond yesterday reversed the judgment of the Circuit Court of Floyd county in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Fred S. Hoback, the young man who is charged with the murder of his sister's sweetheart, John Jett. In the lower court Hoback was given an eight-year term in the penitentiary, and yesterday's action of the higher court in granting a new trial means that the prisoner cannot be given a longer term if he is again convicted. Jett, it is believed, was preparing to elope with twenty-two-year-old Kate Hoback, sister of the accused man and daughter of Dr. A. J. Hoback, at the time he met his death. Jett was a widower with several children, whose ages ranged, respectively, from two to twenty years. According to the record, his reputation was not good, as his first wife was divorced from him, but married him again, only to suffer more cruel treatment. The Hoback family did not think the intentions of the widower toward Kate were of the most commendable sort. They even doubted whether he actually intended to marry the girl, and consequently they bitterly resented his visits, which sometimes were made late at night. Many threats were exchanged on both sides, and the climax came on January 30, 1905, when, in a fight, young Hoback shot the widower. Both the dead man and the Hobacks are widely known and each faction has its sympathizers. The lower court was reversed on a purely technical point, involving the manner in which the jury was drawn.

Liability of Railroads.

The affirmation by the Court of Appeals of the appeal case of Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company vs. Beasley, Couch & Co. means a loss of only $500 in this particular case to the Chesapeake and Ohio, but the law which the decision sustains affects the railroads generally throughout the State and will greatly increase the amount in which they will be liable for the loss of property entrusted to them for transportation. The decision of the court is, in substance, that in view of the Virginia statute, which provides that no agreement made by a transportation company for exemption from liability for injury or loss of property by its own neglect or misconduct as a common carrier shall be valid; such transportation companies cannot make a valid contract limiting their liability, even though it be in consideration of carriage at a reduced rate and the contract was fairly entered into. Judge Buchanan and Judge Harrison dissent from the opinion of the majority of the court, which is written by Judge Keith.

Bent Her Double.

"I knew no one for four weeks when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburgh, Pa., "and when I got better, although I had one of the best doctors I could get, I was bent double, and had to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this terrible affliction I was cured by Electric Bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure, stomach, liver and kidney disorders; at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store; price 50c.

Many sufferers from nasal catarrh say they get splendid results by using an atomizer. For their benefit we prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Except that it is a liquid it is in all respects like the healing, helpful, pain-killing Cream Balm that the public has been familiar with for years. No cocaine nor other dangerous drug in it. The soothing spray relieves at once and cures is certain. All druggists 75c, including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

Six Jews Shot.

Warsaw, Jan. 19.—In the court yard of the citadel here Wednesday a detachment of infantry shot six Jews who were alleged to be anarchists. They had been sentenced to death by a court martial for participating in the policy of terrorism.

Perfection can only be attained in the physical by allowing Nature to appropriate and not dissipate her own resources. Cathartics gripe, weaken—dissipate, while DeWitt's Little Early Riser simply expel all putrid matter from the system, and now I can assume normal activity. Good for the complexion. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co., 401 King street.

Prizefighter Killed.

A young prize fighter known as "Kid" Goog, was killed last night in the second round of what was to have been a three-round bout with "Kid" Sis, in the rooms of the George McFadden Athletic Club, back of a saloon at 130th street and Taird avenue, New York. Almost the first blow of the round was a powerful right hand swing which struck Goog directly over the heart. His knees wobbled, he tottered an instant with both hands over his heart and then fell to the floor like a log.

Jack Hastings, a prize fighter, who acted as referee, thought it was simply a knockout and called up Jack Davis and Murphy for the fourth bout of the evening. After a round had been fought Goog's seconds became alarmed and notified Hastings that they were unable to bring their man to the ring. There was a doctor in the crowd of 300 spectators and he was called forward. "It's no use, boys, the man is dead," he said, after an examination.

Max Loeb, the manager, made the announcement to the spectators that the exhibition was over for the night and 'old time' to get away as fast as they could.

Four arrests were made of men alleged to be connected with the affair, but Sis, who inflicted the fatal blow, escape. The spectators left slowly, and fifteen of them were detained by the police as witnesses.

"Kid" Goog's real name is Nathan Rosenberg. He lived in New York. "Kid" Sis's name is unknown to the police. Each was eighteen years of age.

Socialistic Demonstration.

The demonstrations at Hamburg Wednesday assumed a more serious aspect that night than indicated in previous dispatches. A barricade was erected in one of the streets leading to the fish market and the police were firmly dispersed until midnight. In attempting to disperse the rioters the latter opened fire with every kind of weapon, and about 20 policemen were wounded, one of whom has since died. The demonstrations are intended as a protest against the proposed election law which partly disfranchises the poorer classes. Over 20 shops were plundered. The number of rioters wounded is not known, but more than a dozen men were treated at one drug store. Some of these were seriously wounded. A policeman broke the skull of a 12-year-old boy who was trying to turn out a street lamp. The workmen who took part in Wednesday's demonstrations were locked out yesterday morning. Over 4,000 lost their employment.

Buried Without Ceremony.

With no minister present and with no religious ceremonies whatever, the body of Mrs. Mary Powers, widow of John Powers, was buried at the cemetery at Ninevah, Warren county, Wednesday evening. Only the grandchildren of Mrs. Powers were present at the funeral. The coffin was lowered into the grave amid silence. Friends of the woman are unable to account for the absence of a minister at the last rites over her remains. They assert that she was a believer in God all of her life and had been a devout member of the church. She was 78 years old and was a native of Warren county.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Best Made

"In my opinion Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best made for colds," says Mrs. Cora Walker, of Potomac, California. There is no doubt about its being the best. No other will cure a cold so quickly. No other is so sure a preventive of pneumonia. No other is so pleasant and safe to take. These are good reasons why it should be preferred to any other. The fact is that few people are satisfied with any other after having once used this remedy. For sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.
